Call for Program Abstracts 2017 Joint Conference of The Montana Section of the American Water Works Association &

The Montana Water Environment Association

This is a Call for Program Abstracts to be presented at the 2017 MSAWWA-MWEA Joint Conference which will be held in Great Falls, Montana. Abstracts are also being sought for the MWEA hosted Preconference which will focus on stormwater topics with potential for additional stormwater presentations during the Joint Conference. The Preconference will be held on April 18th, 2017 followed by the Joint Conference on April 19th & 20th, 2017. Please note that all selected speakers are expected to pay the complete registration fee if chosen to present at the conference.

The Joint Conference Program Committee is developing a technical program that will focus on water quality and treatment issues. Emphasis is on subjects of specific pertinence to Montana and the West. Speakers from the region are encouraged to submit an abstract. The theme for the Joint Conference is “Working Together To Protect Montana’s Water Resources”. This theme highlights the collaboration of MSAWWA and MWEA teaming up to provide great training and networking opportunities for all attendees.

The Conference and Preconference programs will be developed from submitted and solicited abstracts. The Joint Conference technical sessions will address subjects of specific interest to professionals working with Montana’s water and wastewater systems and water resources. The Joint Conference Program Committee will consider abstracts that are geared to address these specific subjects. Presentations are to be 45 minutes, including Q & A, in length. Additional written material may be provided for a more thorough understanding of complex information.

Please submit abstracts by December 16, 2016. This completed form must be included along with a copy of your abstract, no longer than 500 words in length, and a short biography for each speaker. Please submit these items to Robin Matthews-Barnes by mail, fax or email at:
